Mr. Barkai:

Can you, Mr. Issacson, or Ms. Phillips call me? I need a little more direction on who it is that you expect me to have on the phone for NF tomorrow. We established in testimony that it was a temporary alliance that is no longer in existence.

But as for NF, are we playing semantic games in hopes of damaging me for non-compliance? How am I expected to generate a human witness for a defunct, temporary alliance for organizations that have no ongoing relationship? I'm not trying to be different, and I know what the Federal Rules say, so please let's skip the recitations. Reality is standing in my way, and the only feedback I'm getting from your side is "It's the attorney of record's responsibility." Could you generate a witness out of thin air if the tables were turned? It's as if you want to turn NF into something it is not. If this were anything more than a paper entity, it would have a board of directors, or a CEO, or some sort of registration and contact information.

Also, the NSM deposition needs to be re-scheduled, as Mr. Colluci will not be available this week. He's not the most cooperative of clients. Please advise.

Best regards,
